Dear St Bernadette's Class,

I hope that you are all well and have been enjoying the sunshine over the last few days. It was a real pleasure to see and hear about some of your wonderful creative learning activities in the newsletter last week. It is very strange to be at home during a school week, wondering about what you might decide to achieve each day.

I am looking forward to reading some of your news reports about Edward Tulane and it would be lovely to see some pictures of your Art or DT projects. Please ask your parents if they could send some photos of your work or your writing to the class email address (stbernadette@stcuthbert-mayne.surrey.sch.uk) or to Mrs McCarthy, so that you are able to contribute to this week's newsletter.

Well done to those of you who have had a go at the maths activities on the MyMaths and Mangahigh websites. I hope you are also practising your times tables regularly; all of you were making great progress with these during the few weeks that I was with you. I wonder how you are finding the daily White Rose maths lessons. I would love to create a 'Maths Working Wall' poster of the maths facts you have learnt this week, which I could share with you all at the end of the week.

This week I have been making the most of the opportunity to read some of the books that I have on my shelf at home. I even have a few books in different languages, so I am challenging myself to relearn some of the languages! What books have you been reading this week?

I have sent your parents some ideas for learning activities this week. I wonder if you will have a go at the science experiment! Or would you prefer to be historians and discover more about the fortunes of the Vikings? With Easter approaching, you could have some fun creating Easter crafts or bake something delicious to share with your family.

Best wishes and I hope you and your family enjoy some of these activities over the next week.

Ms Halahan
